

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA IS SOLD TO SANTA FE.

Railroad From Emeryville to Bryant is Bought at Public Auction for $50,000

The Oakland and East Side Railroad Company was represented by President M. J. Keller and Director A. E. Bolton, in addition to De Lovegas and Madison. The other directors of the road are J. De Haven and Mr. Pratt.

President Keller admitted that the Oakland and East Side Railroad Company was a branch road of the Santa Fe. The company is incorporated for the purpose of building a road from Emeryville to Walnut Creek, Contra Costa county, and connecting with the Santa Fe in the San Joaquin valley. A branch line is to extend to San Pablo.

What is left of the California and Nevada road has been described as "two tracks of rust and some old ties," extending from Emeryville to Bryant Station in Contra Costa county, a distance of twenty miles. The road never paid for the time of its construction and during the last two years has been idle.

There is very little rolling stock and few buildings connected with the road. The franchise is the most valuable thing on the rails and ties have become almost useless, except for junk.

The road was built about twenty years ago, chiefly through the efforts of the late Captain Smith and J. S. Emery, for whom the town of Emeryville was named. Its franchise extended from Emeryville to Bodie, on the border between California and Nevada, a distance of 250 miles. Construction, however, was stopped when the road had been built to Bryant station.

Alameda county has held the banner since 1900, succeeding Alameda county, which had the distinction of being the banner county for ten years previous to 1900.

Volcanoes of South Arc Juniors Celebrate Day Varsity Decides Not to Correlated Says Dr. at Theater and Play Wisconsin Lawson, Promenade. New Years.

BRANCH OFFICE, 2121 STANFORD PLACE

BERKELEY, Nov. 29.—Yesterday was Junior day at the University of California, and the people on both sides of the bay knew it. In the afternoon the students and their friends went to San Francisco, where the farce and curtain-raiser were presented. In the evening they held their "prom" in the gymnasium, tripping the light fantastic until the untoward hour of 4.

The Grand Opera House in San Francisco was crowded when the curtain went up for the one act curtain-raiser, written by Miss Virginia Whitehead. The play was called "The Rehearsal." It was simple in plot, the dialogue was witty and the different parts well taken. The cast was as follows:

Chas. Granger, E. Howard Baxter, a Junior in the farce cast; Timothy Greenleaf, Melvin G. Jeffress, a special in botany; Pauline Elcott, Winifred Osborne, a Junior in the farce cast; Alice Wilderer, Eva Gray, a romantic Co-ed.

The farce, which was entitled the "Ax and the Pirate's Daughter," was written by Arthur L. Price, and was considerably different from the previous farces. It had more music in it than other college productions. The costumes were decidedly new. And the nature of the play more nearly that of a light comedy. The plot was new and original and carried the dialogue, which was not always brilliant, and the action, which at times was slow, with it. The plot certainly was unique and gave rise to some pretty situations, and to the plot must be attributed much of the undoubted success.

Perhaps never before in college theatricals have so many clever amateur actresses been on the stage at once. The girls yesterday did well, they entered into the spirit of the peace and seemed to have some of the life that in other farces has been so painfully lacking. If one girl could be selected as better than the rest it would be Miss Teddy Howard, who, attired in a striking costume of bright colors, made a beautiful picture, stern to give commands, yet a woman at heart. The part was difficult and exceedingly well taken. Sharing the honors with Miss Howard were Beatrice Snow and Miss Le Conte, who took their parts well. All the girls came in for a round of applause when they appeared in their neat yachting suits.

Take it all in all the day was a complete success and authors, actors and managers are to be congratulated. Following is the cast:

Students of California—Ed Onkes, W. A. E. Woods, custodian of the Stanford ax; Harry Varnard, Philo Lindley, secretary to the Rajah of Ping-Pong; Ernest Nerve, Maxwell Milton, chairman of Eds; Willis O'Keen, Fred Blanchard, newspaper correspondent; Philip Schopenhauer, Ben Harwood; Rajah of Ping-Pong, Jack

TELEPHONE MASON 1761

Levy, a Hindoo Prince at the University of California; Rosalind, Juliet, sisters, Miss Ida Maurer, Miss Ida Enderdson; Polly Conn, Miss Elizabeth Arnell; Jan Tostick, Miss Tallulah Le Conte; Dorothy Arch, Miss Beatrice Snow, non-student; Captain Bajer, Gaylord Watson, commander of Ping-Pong's army; corporals, soldiers, the Rajah's army, L. S. Metzler, Harry Morrison, Leo Korbek, J. R. Turner; Rajah's servant, L. S. soldier, D. V. Bibebe; pirates with Salome Buchanar, Otis Baldwin, J. Neighbor, S. H. Shinsheiner, R. G. Clifford; Salome Buchanar, Miss Edwina Howard, a pirate's daughter.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

BERKELEY, Nov. 29.—Certo Camp, Woodmen of the World, have elected the following officers, who will be installed in January: Consul-commander, William H. Sweeney; advisor, N. Olson; banker, G. Neuwirth; clerk, Thomas Wilson; escort, F. Encalada; chairman, L. M. Fifer; secretary, O. Johnson; manager, William Powell; physician, Dr. Gladding.

RETURNED MISSIONARY WILL TELL OF WORK.

BERKELEY, Nov. 29.—Rev. Mr. Bondy, a returned missionary from India, will preach at the Friends Church Sunday, telling of his work among the famine stricken people of that country.

CONCORDIA CLUB GIVES DANCE.

BERKELEY, Nov. 29.—The Concordia Club gave a successful Thanksgiving dance in Concordia Hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with green and red berries. The dance proved one of the most pleasant affairs ever given by the club, and the festive war was carried into the early morning. Harry Jacksch acted as floor manager.

FARMERS OF STATE WILL ASK FOR APPROPRIATION.

BERKELEY, November 29.—The lack of funds for the Agricultural Department of the State University has at last been taken up by the farmers of the State.

In particular are the funds for the animal and dairy departments of the department. In 1901 a bill was passed by the State legislature, $10,000 was appropriated for the Dairy Department at Berkeley. This was entirely inadequate, and the last legislature was asked for an additional appropriation. This request was met with by the meager advance of only $800.

The stock raisers and dairymen of the State blame the regents of the University. They claim that the regents favor the other departments of the University, to the detriment of the College of Agriculture. At present the department boasts of very few students, and has a herd of only half a dozen thoroughbred cows. All the experimental work must be done among the herds of private owners. These two crying needs for pasture and for cattle will be met, the first by utilizing the Flood property, which belongs to the University, at Menlo Park; the second by increased appropriation from the legislature.

No have this appropriation granted the stock-raisers and dairymen are formulating a petition which will be presented to the State legislature. In speaking of the affair, President Woodruff says: "The State is not sufficient money to carry on the work of the University. If we make an advance in one department, it must be to the detriment of the rest. We try to treat all departments alike. The day may come when there will be a special appropriation for the work of this rapidly advancing University."

SAYS SOUTHERN VOLCANOES ARE ALL CORRELATED.

BERKELEY, November 29.—The recent terrible volcanic eruptions that have recently taken place in Guatemala, and on the Windward Islands, and the recent eruption of Mt. Pelee are all correlated, according to Dr. Andrew C. Lawson, head of the Department of Geology at the University of California.

All of these volcanoes are eruptions of great lakes of fire under the earth's crust and until this lake of fire has spent its force, the disaster in the southern countries will not permanently cease. Prof. Lawson has recently returned from a trip through this fire-stricken section, and has made a careful study of the geological conditions. He is therefore eminently qualified to express an opinion on this topic.

The recent violent volcanic activities which have been made manifest at Mar-Unique and St. Vincent and now on the west coast of Guatemala are in a general way correlated in that the same weakness of the earth's crust in the region of all the volcanoes has resulted in their eruptions. Specific and local causes in each instance probably disturbed the delicate balance which was all ready to be affected as the result of the underlying cause affecting all.

The line of weakness along which these are due to the sudden sinking away of a portion of the earth's crust which has long been under a strain as the result of the gradual shrinking of the whole sphere. When this rupture or sinking takes place the rocks heavily charged with water from near the surface of the ground are thrust far down into the region of great heat, thus causing a rapid generation of steam and a consequent violent explosion.

The time of weakness along which the all of these volcanoes gave way first at the spot beneath the Windward Isles and then at the weak point in the isthmus where rise the lofty ranges of the great connecting mountain chain. Until the earth adjusts itself to this "fault" or slip of its crust, there will be continuous volcanic disturbances along the line of its fracture.

GAME WITH WISCONSIN HAS BEEN CALLED OFF.

BERKELEY, November 29.—At a meeting held after the game with the Persis Indians in Los Angeles, the Varsity football team decided not to accept the challenge of Wisconsin for a game on New Year's Day. For over two months the team has been in constant hard training, and they feel that they have had enough football for one year. To play Wisconsin would necessitate the hardest kind of practice and training from now on until New Year's. This, the team does not wish to do, and hence the game with Wisconsin has been called off.

The student body at Berkeley are greatly disappointed that the game has been called off. Since Wisconsin has met with cago, the California students think that they should have a game with the team. Their Varsity would stand a good show with the visitors. But no one at Berkeley has the team in the least.

In regard to the alleged slugging in the game with the Persis Indians, the Californians deny that they played any rougher ball than was made absolutely necessary by the slugging of the Indians. The old Carlisle Indian player, in particular played a bruising game, and to offset some of his assaults the Berkeley boys were forced to resort to tactics, not usually allowed on a football field.

Levy, a returned missionary from India, will preach at the Friends Church Sunday, telling of his work among the famine stricken people of that country.

ILLINOIS SOCIETY TO HOLD MEETING.

The Illinois Society of California, was recently organized in Oakland. It is made up of persons who have spent many years in that State, with their families. Three interesting meetings have been held, at which the organization has been perfected and the first annual meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, December 3d, at Grand Army Hall, Thirteenth street, between Broadway and Franklin, Oakland. All persons eligible for membership, with their families, are asked to be present and to notify all Illinoisans of their acquaintance. The secretary, H. J. Waters, of Niles, will be glad to receive the names of any such persons so that they may notify them. The society expects the membership to be greatly increased.

THE ART EXHIBITION.

Any one who wishes to attend the opening of the art exhibition to be given by the Board of Art Fund on the evening of December 5, if he has not already subscribed, must send his name to the secretary, Mrs. Ruegled, 1151 Linden street, by the evening of December 5.

The art exhibition is a very interesting one, which is to be a reception to the artists. The subscription price is $1, which entitles the subscriber to a free ticket to the exhibition, and will add greatly to the beauty of the town hall. Everything is in readiness to put the slate roof on the building.

PROHIBITIONISTS WILL HOLD A MEETING.

The Bay District Prohibition Alliance will meet one day earlier than previously announced, in order to secure the attendance of one of the most prominent Prohibitionists of the country, Alphonse E. Wilson. Wilson comes from Chicago, where the cold water men have just elected their national chairman to the Illinois Legislature. He was formerly telegraph editor of the Chicago News, but resigned his position in 1901 to become secretary of the Prohibition State Central Committee. This was just after the disastrous campaign of 1900, which tested the loyalty of the Prohibitionists as never before, but Stewart and Wilson took hold under the most discouraging circumstances and raised the vote about $300 in 1902 to nearly 25,000 in 1902.

Mr. Wilson will arrive in Oakland December 1st, and will probably stay in the city until the 15th. He will attend the District Alliance meeting in Alameda on Monday, December 8. He will speak in Pasadena December 10, in Berkeley December 12 and in San Francisco December 15. The District Alliance meeting in Berkeley will be held on the 15th, and will be the meetings at Pasadena and Los Angeles will probably be in the nature of memorial exercises.

NEWS FROM THE NAVY YARDS.

TWO BIG GUNS FOR HAYWARDS ARE LANDED AT BROADWAY WHARF.

Captain T. S. Phelps of the U. S. S. Marblehead came down Wednesday evening from Mare Island to spend "Thanksgiving" with his family in their Oakland home.

The old E. B. Flint place which the Phelps purchased has been greatly beautified and will be their permanent home. Captain Phelps leaves shortly on a cruise in the Marblehead.

GUNS ARRIVED.

The two guns which were secured for the Haywards Veteran League through the efforts of Congressman Victor H. Metcalf were delivered by the Navy Yard tug Unadilla at Broadway Wharf Friday morning. The guns were shipped from Mare Island on Friday last but were docked on Broadway Wharf in San Francisco, instead of Oakland and their mysterious non-appearance at Haywards has been the subject of much communication between the Mare Island authorities and the representatives of the League during the past week.

The guns, while not trophies of war, will be highly prized because of a design now no longer issued. Together the guns weigh over two tons. Captain J. P. Montague was in command of the "Unadilla" and made the time acquaintance acquainted him when the boat made the landing at Broadway Wharf.

Paymaster Irvine, U. S. N., has lately been appointed to duty as Yard Paymaster at the Mare Island Navy Yard and is now comfortably settled in the elegant quarters provided for that officer. The Irvine has a large following of Oakland people among their friends, for Mr. Irvine was formerly a resident here, and was always a social favorite. There will be much genuine hospitality extended from this home during the coming winter.

MAN INJURED AT EMERYVILLE.

AS THE RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT L. SAVAGE MAY LOSE AN EYE.

EMERYVILLE, November 29.—L. Savage, a young man about twenty-five years of age and employed at the Judson Manufacturing Works at Emeryville, was struck in the eye by a bit of flying steel yesterday afternoon while at his work and as a result will probably lose the optic.

Savage was at his bench working over a piece of steel, when suddenly a bit of the metal broke off and, with great force, flew up and struck him in the left eye and cheek.

His cheek was badly cut and bled profusely. At the moment he was half-dead with the pain. Other workmen getting his plight came to his aid and Savage was taken to the electric car and taken to the office of Dr. L. F. Herlick in the Central Bank building at Oakland. Here, upon examination, Dr. Herlick expressed the opinion that the injured optic would have to be removed.

It was possible to save the eye, Dr. Herlick dressed the wound and Savage was removed to Fabiola Hospital, where the eye will be examined again by the physician to determine whether or not an operation is necessary.

Savage is suffering considerable pain from the injury but bears it without a murmur. He has been in the employ of the Judson Works but a short time but in that period has been singularly unfortunate, having been recently lost part of one hand by having caught in some machinery.

STONE COPING HERE.

The best coping that has ever been used to ornament the new town hall arrived here on freight cars and is being taken to the new building. The coping is a very beautiful one and will add greatly to the beauty of the town hall. Everything is in readiness to put the slate roof on the building.

Free Medical Advice to Women.

Every sick and ailing woman, Every young girl who suffers monthly, Every woman who is approaching maternity, Every woman who feels that life is a burden, Every woman who has tried all other means to regain health without success, Every woman who is going through that critical time—the change of life—is invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., in regard to her trouble, and the most expert advice telling exactly how to obtain a CURE will be sent absolutely free of cost.

The one thing that qualifies a person to give advice on any subject is experience—experience creates knowledge.

No other person has so wide an experience with female ills nor such a record of success as Mrs. Pinkham has had.

Over a hundred thousand cases come before her each year. Some personally, others by mail. And this has been going on for twenty years, day after day, and day after day.

Twenty years of constant success—think of the knowledge thus gained! Surely women are wise in seeking advice from a woman with such an experience, especially when it is free.

Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, wrote to Mrs. Pinkham when she was in great trouble. Her letter shows the result. There are actually thousands of such letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under doctors' treatment for female troubles for some time, but without any relief. They now tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, I cannot wear my clothes with any comfort. Womb is dreadfully swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time. The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor, given in your little book, agree with my case, so I write to you for advice."—Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 223 Dudley St. (Boston), Roxbury, Mass.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you describing my symptoms, and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully for several months, and today I am a well woman. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, together with your advice, carefully followed, entirely expelled the tumor, and strengthened the whole system. I can walk miles now. Your Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors, or any female trouble, to write you for advice and give it a faithful trial."—Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 223 Dudley St. (Boston), Roxbury, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes will gladly answer any and all letters that may be addressed to her asking about her illness, and how Mrs. Pinkham helped her.

$5000 FORFEIT If we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of the above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

On Account of Many Cures WINE OF CARDUI Has a wonderful hold on the Community of Jacksonville.

No. 151 East Fourth Street, JACKSONVILLE, FLA., May 6, 1902.

I look upon perfect health as one of the greatest blessings that can be bestowed upon a human being, though but few of us fully appreciate this until we have been sick; then we learn to prize this precious blessing at its true value. I know a number of women in my neighborhood who had wretched health, broken down in body, it preyed upon their minds and they became fretful, nervous and irritable and were really unable to take care of their homes and children. Today they are well and happy women and Wine of Cardui produced this wonderful change.

My experience with it has been all that I could desire. A few years ago I was completely broken down in health, nervous, irritable and had the sympathy of no one, but a few bottles of Wine of Cardui restored me to perfect health. As one of us would get better another woman would feel encouraged to try it and they are all wonderfully benefited and this has given your Wine of Cardui a wonderful hold in this community and explains why it is such a favorite with weak and delicate women for periodical headaches and feelings of lassitude and weariness in the spring. I consider it a favorite household remedy for young or old and well worthy of praise and endorsement.

Dena A. Shadd.

WINE OF CARDUI is the medicine for women. It has a record of curing over a million women of menstrual irregularities, ovarian pains, bearing-down pains and barrenness, and because it may be taken in the privacy of the house without any loss of time and without the distressing embarrassment of a physician. And doctors recognize its merit by prescribing it in hospitals and in private practice, because of its success in building up worn out and nervous women and making them well and strong and fit for womanly duty. The world never knows of their suffering, but they are the real martyrs of the race.

Gage Card Party Was a Large Affair---

THAT IS A SURPRISE.

An engagement that has caused a great deal of surprise and talk over here, where the groom-elect was at one time very well known, and across the bay, where the girl in the case has been a prominent society girl for a long time, is that of Eva Moody and Ray Sherman. Miss Moody is a very smart and beautiful girl, and to see her one would suppose her still in the twenties. She is the beauty of her family and is an elder sister of the twin Moody girls, one of whom married Henry Breeden and later died. Mr. Breeden then wedding Emma Butler, who came over to the dances Mrs. Harry Knowles, then Jessie Coleman, organized for us one winter, and who is so very pretty and pleasant always. The other twin eloped with Douglas Watson, who years ago lived with his people in the house later occupied by the Charles Holts' on Madison street. Strange to say, that although Mrs. Moody apparently quite approves of the coming marriage of her daughter with Ray Sherman, she has never forgiven her other daughter for marrying Douglas Watson, although he is a very nice fellow, comes of an excellent family—his people are related to the Sloanes of New York, and other prominent Easterners—and is generously endowed with the goods of this world. Ray Sherman is a big, handsome fellow, and when he was working his way through the University of California, some seven years ago, attracted a lot of attention from the girls at college and in society. There were stories to the effect that although his father was the village blacksmith in the small inland town from whence Ray came, Ray had social aspirations, and after he had played on the foot ball team, the rest was easy, the girls hung upon his words, and he was quite the most popular dancing man at our exclusive Deux Temps Club. The fellows on the contrary, had very little to say about him, but if you will notice, men that the majority of girls like, are not the men that like like. Since his college days, Ray has given us the go-by over here and has devoted himself to one wealthy girl after another across the bay, and is now about to have his fondest dreams realized.

LAURA CRELLIN
BUYS TROUSSEAU.

Laura Crellin, who came home from New York with any number of lovely things for her trousseau last week, is being entertained a lot nowadays, and Agnes Duff, the other bride-elect, is also having things given for her. Laura is to be the guest of honor at the big card party to be given by Mrs. John Henry Diekmann, Jr., and her sisters, Mrs. James P. H. Dunn and Claire Chabot, at their home on Friday of next week.

Jane Rawlings—who is one of the most talented girls in our set, and is as finished an artist as she is a musician—gave a luncheon for Laura on Wednesday, and today Mrs. M. E. Davidson gave a luncheon for eight, followed by a euche party, for her. The table decorations were entirely in red, those about the board being Laura and Mona Crellin, Mrs. Lee Cole Burnham, Mrs. Morgan, Emma Mahoney, Georgia Strong, Mrs. Alexander Marx and the hostess. Later those who came in for cards were: Mrs. Fred Clift, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. E. L. Fitzgerald, Louise Mahoney, Mrs. Ernest Folger, Miss Hall, Mrs. James P. H. Dunn, Mrs. Charles Rodolph, Mrs. Frank Weston and Mrs. John Henry Diekmann, Jr.

Those who are to help Mrs. Diekmann and her sisters receive their hundred and fifty guests at cards on Friday, are, Mona, Ethel and Jane Crellin, Mrs. Henry Nichols, Mrs. Alexander Marx, Mrs. Robert L. Stephenson, Margaret Sinclair, Mrs. William Edes, Mrs. Robert Knight, Mary Barker, Jane Rawlings, Florence Brown, Marjette Havens, Edith Gaskill, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Jean Howard, Ruth Knowles, Helen Chase, Mabel Gage, Mrs. William Richardson, Mrs. Lee Burnham, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. George Cross.

PUBLIC REBUKE FOR MRS. OELRICHS.
The public rebuke which was administered to Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs and Mrs. Philip Lydig for disturbing the peace at the performance of "The Mocking Bird," at the Bijou Theatre, in New York a few nights ago, ought to prove a warning to a good many society women who make a practice of taking their private affairs to the theatre for public discussion. For two acts these two women carried on such a high pitched discussion in an upper box that it was almost impossible for the audience to hear anything more than the highest notes uttered by the singers on the stage. Finally, when an usher, with a curt ultimatum from the management, brought their talk to an abrupt conclusion, the two women and their escorts left the theatre in high dudgeon.

CRAFT-DEERING WEDDING.

The Craft-Deering wedding of Saturday last, went off without a hitch anywhere, but you have already heard everything about that, because every one was at the church, but only a few of us went to the house later, because there was only about 170 asked to the breakfast, and most of those were from the big Deering clan, or people from across the bay. It was a very gay, bright and sparkling affair all through, quite different from some afternoon affairs of the kind that I've yawned through. The music alone was enough to liven one up, and after greeting the bride and groom, there were all the beautiful gifts displayed in an upper room, to exclaim over. The M. H. de Youngs sent Mabel an immense silver bowl, there were bracelets, pins, cut glass, some exquisite lace, a beautiful French writing desk, silver, brasses of all shapes and sizes; an awfully swell lamp from Dick Hotelling, all sorts of vases, bowls, confections, pictures and things galore. Mr. Deering gave her a beautiful diamond fleur de lis you know, and she looked very handsome and happy as she stood receiving the guests, remembering just what every one had sent her, and saying some things that pleased every one that spoke to her. Hallahan outdid himself with the birds and sweets and all the rest, and the big tent looked very gay and pretty. There were small tables all about, the bride's table decorated in pink, while those sitting there received pretty pink water-colored name cards, tied with pink ribbon, the names being done in gold. Mr. Deering's speech was simply fine and when Dick Hotelling responded to the toast "The Parents of the Bride," every one simply shrieked with laughter at every other word he said. He told us in the beginning that he had never responded to his own parents, and didn't know how well he could respond to the parents of the bride, but he was "simply out of sight," as I heard one of the Bohemian Club Quartette fellows exclaim, and is certainly the wittiest man I've ever listened to.

Charlie Field, who responded to "Our Sweethearts and Wives," was awfully good too, and the fake telegrams he read us, from President Jordan, thanking the bride for choosing the Stanford course for her wedding decorations, (Charlie is a Stanford man you know) would have deceived even himself, if he had a bad memory and had forgotten he had written it. One of Mr. Deering's brothers read the telegrams—there were dozens—aloud to us, and they came from far and near, James Phelan sending a long one from gay Paree. Afterwards we all stood about on the lawn with our hands loaded with rice and chrysanthemum leaves, ready to pelt the departing bride and groom, when bright Mrs. Lucie May Hayes and Dick Hotelling tore out and flying down the walk dashed off in the carriage. Of course we wasted all our ammunition upon them and had to load up again for the real bridal couple. Charlie Field decorated the horses with red carnations (Stanford again) and there was an immense bouquet of red roses on top of the carriage as Mr. and Mrs. Deering drove away. Mabel looking almost as dark as a dark traveling suit, with a stunning pale blue waist underneath, as she had in her white gown and hat.

MRS. BRYAN'S TEA.

Lots of us are going over to Mrs. Linda H. Bryan's 4 o'clock tea for Mrs. Charlie Dunphy, nee Rowena Burns, last Tuesday, at her pretty home on Buchanan street, and the girls receiving are to remain for a little supper and a general good time in the evening, when some men are to arrive.

MRS. WETHERBEE'S CHARITY AFFAIR.

Of course, every one who is any one at all, in Oakland, Fruitvale, Alameda and Berkeley, will be on deck Saturday evening, December 13th, when Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, who is always happiest when thinking up something to benefit some charity or other, and some others are to give their dramatic performance at Maple Hall, for the benefit of the Fruitvale Armory, for which Mrs. Wetherbee has already done so much. They are to have handsome posters about in the windows, I believe Mrs. Wetherbee's artistic sister, Mrs. Furnham, is painting them now, and the tickets—all fifty cents—can be had at Sherman & Clay's, at several other stores not yet decided upon and at the door. The affair is to begin at 8:15 promptly, although of course there will be any number with new gowns, who will rustle in much later. The program ought to be fine. Frank Howard Seely has written a burlesque on grand opera, called "Il Ganterio," for the occasion, and is to have a fine chorus and orchestra. Then Thomas Dykes Beasley's one-act farce, "Uncle Dick from Hong Kong," is to be played, besides an alleged scientific lecture upon the "Snee and Mo," to be given by Sanford Bennett of Alameda; a musical number by George McBride and some character sketches by George Walker and Kendall Fellows. Mrs. Wetherbee, Bessie Martin of New York, Mae Sadler of Alameda, Kendall Fellows, Allan W. Dimond, George Walker and Sanford Bennett of Alameda are to take part in the farce, while Mrs. Alice Mason Barnett of Berkeley, Joe Rosborough and Louis H. Jacoby, Jr., have the principal roles in the operetta, the chorus being made up of big eyed Elsie Marwadel, Mrs. Frank Howard Seely, Mrs. Martin S. Hauser, Mrs. Anson Hilton, Mrs. W. H. Hackett, Mrs. Wetherbee, Mrs. E. H. Mauk, Bessie Martin, Mae Sadler, Ruth Sadler, H. L. Perry, Martin S. Hauser, W. H. Hackett, Dr. E. H. Mauk, R. V. Hassard, P. C. Clark, A. E. Clark, E. E. Signiera, Kendall Fellows and Thomas Warren. Frank Seely is to direct the orchestra, which is simply fine, Gertrude Hilberd and Gertrude Thayer being the first violins, Ray Wellman and Miss Walker being the second violins, P. W. Morehouse playing the violincello, E. O. Allen the flute, J. V. Mattison the French horn, W. A. Hammond the cornet and Mrs. H. G. White the piano. I hear that they are all getting a lot of fun out of the rehearsals, which are taking place several evenings every week, in Mrs. Wetherbee's big drawing-room, and Maple Hall is sure to be filled with a fashionable crowd on the 13th.

COMPLIMENT FOR MRS. GOODFELLOW.

Mrs. W. L. Goodfellow, who gets prettier and younger looking every day, and dark eyed Marion Goodfellow, who is as charming as her mother, have sent out cards for a tea to be given on Tuesday, December 9th, from 4 to 6 o'clock at their big East Oakland home. This will be the first large formal affair given by Mrs. Goodfellow, and is Marion's formal debut. I haven't heard who all are to receive, but Jacqueline Moore will of course be one of them, the two girls having been devoted friends ever since they wore short dresses.

SHE WRITES CLEVER SKETCHES.

Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, who writes such clever sketches and stories, has returned to New York and her position on Munsey's Magazine, after taking a course at the summer school at Berkeley. Another short story writer in whom we are interested and who writes such good sketches for the Argosy, is Marguerite Stabler of Marysville, who went to Mills College some years ago, when Mabel Gray was also a student there. Miss Stabler is visiting friends in Oakland just now, and I do hope Miss Gray will ask her to talk to us at Ebeli, because she is a very interesting woman.

CROWD AT THE KING TEA.

Never in my life have I been in such a jam as the one that almost crushed me to death at Mrs. Homer L. King's, last Saturday. Mrs. King, Hazel and Genevieve, sent out over 1,000 cards, and although their new house is a large one, it couldn't begin to hold the people, many of them standing on the sidewalk and steps for half an hour trying to wedge in, and then when they finally got squeezed in the hall, how they wished they were outside again, where there was at least air. No one could see anything but the ceilings of the rooms and the hats of the guests, and one might just as well have worn a golf skirt for all one could see of the gowns. It really seemed hours until one could get near the hostesses and as for getting something in the dining room, before taking the trip back to Oakland, impossible! I had to laugh at poor little Carmen Moore Starr, who by the by, gave a very pretty informal little luncheon for Katherine Dillon before she went away; because all one could see of her was the crown of her hat.

ARBOR VILLA OPEN AGAIN.

Now that Arbor Villa is opened again, we may expect lots of good times there, and in fact, they are already beginning. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Smith's niece, Grace Sperry, who during Mrs. Smith's absence has been stopping at the Albany, where Winifred Burdge has also been, gave a dinner party for Charlotte Laws, whose engagement to Dan Belton was announced some weeks or perhaps months ago, time flies so quickly, one forgets. The dinner was typical of the harvest season, the walls of the dining room carrying an effect of garlands of grape vines with bunches of the fruit, and oak leaves, dry corn husks, persimmon branches and pumpkins decorating the board. The girls present wore colonial costumes, and the name cards were artistic little turkeys and geese. Those at table were: Charlotte Laws, Grace Sperry, Laura Crellin, Daisy Belden, Bessie Palmer, Anita Oliver, Mary Barker, Marion Smith Winifred Burdge, Dan Belden, Robert Fitzgerald, Harold Havens, Arthur Goodfellow, Bert Remmel of Alameda, Joe King, Roland Oliver and Wallace Alexander. Winifred Burdge is to make her debut on Friday evening, December 8th, at 9 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith and Marion Smith having sent out cards for the big reception to take place then. Winifred Burdge has been attending Mills College and is in direct contrast to her pretty brunette sister, Mae Burdge, who is now in Paris with Florence Nightingale.

Wednesdays in January are to be the receiving days at Arbor Villa this winter, and as usual, they will be like regular teas.

GOSSIP ABOUT THE SOCIETY PEOPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, who have rented their pretty little home on Alice street, expect to reside in San Francisco permanently and have leased the residence at 2611 Pacific avenue for the next three years. The A. A. Moores Jr. are spending the winter at the Granada on Sutter street, while their own home is being built. I hear that Al Moore will retire as one of the deputies in the Attorney General's office after the first of the year, and go in business with his father.

The Victor Metcalfe and their relative, Miss Kitzmiller, left for Washington on Monday evening, and there were a large party of friends at the depot to say goodbye.

The A. A. Pennoyers also leave us very shortly, having decided to go abroad for some time, for the benefit of Mr. Pennoyer's health.

The Alexander Center home across the bay has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. John de Ruyters. Mrs. de Ruyter is a cousin of Kate Clement, you know, and was the lovely Leslie Van Ness. And Mrs. de Ruyter is bringing back from Europe and New York lots of beautifully carved and massive furniture for the house, which is very lovely anyhow, finished in natural woods and all that.

The Centers are now at the Knickerbocker. I believe.

Kate Stow of Santa Barbara has been in San Francisco purchasing some of her trousseau, and in the meantime has been renewing old friendships in society, and at Miss Head's school at Berkeley. She has now decided to have her wedding indoors, instead of out under the palms in the beautiful grounds about the Stow home in Santa Barbara.

As I write, William D. English is very low at his Madison street home, and we are all hoping that this genial and well-liked gentleman may be spared to us.

LARGEST CARD PARTY OF THE SEASON.

One of the largest and swiftest card parties of the season was that given at the Gage home on Harrison street yesterday afternoon, when popular Mabel Gage entertained in honor of her sister, Mrs. William H. Richardson, who leaves for her home in Austin, Texas, in a few days. The house had been beautifully decorated for the occasion. Holly berries, Portia pinks and pink and white chrysanthemums were freely used in the decorations. You know the Gage girls are famed as hostesses.

Mrs. Richardson was attired in an artistic blue and white frock, Miss Gage was in sheer white organdie with pink roses, and Mrs. Gross wore a black spangled net with yellow roses.

The prizes were won by Mrs. Shelby Martin, Mrs. Ernest J. Cotton and Mrs. John Henry Diekmann.

Miss Gage was assisted in receiving her guests by her sisters, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. George Gross, and among those present were Mrs. John Clay Hampton, Mrs. Rosenfeld, Miss Carrie Nicholson, Miss Belle Nicholson, Mrs. Albert Long, Mrs. George de Golia, Mrs. Louise Allender, Mrs. George Hammer, Mrs. Charles Parsons, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Enga, Mrs. Frank McLaughlin, Mrs. Frank Watson, Miss Alma and Miss Adah Brown, Miss Young, Miss May Young, Mrs. J. MRS. ALLENDER'S CARD PARTY.

Mrs. Lou Allender's card party last week for Mrs. William Richardson and Miss Flossom of Geneva, New York, was very charming, and her guests were made up of the same friends that Mrs. Allender goes with always. Mrs. Lucie May Hayes, Mrs. George Boreman and Bertha Young carried home the prizes, and Mrs. Allender was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. George de Golia.

THE FRED JACOBS ANNIVERSARY.

The little anniversary affair given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jacobs at the home of the Wesley A. Jacobs in San Francisco was very delightful and informal, and celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage day. Their guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cassell, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Boyer, Dr. and Mrs. Graham, Miss Mollie Connors, Marie Wells, Bessie Palmer, Princess Salmon of Tahiti, Miss Middleton, Dr. Louis Deane, Harry Pendleton, James and Charlie Cosgrave.

MRS. BENSON AN HONORED GUEST.

Mrs. Benson, the New York club woman who is to talk before various clubs this winter, was the honored guest at Mrs. Charles Hall's home last week, the members of the Town and Gown Club of Berkeley turning out in force to meet her.

WENT TO HEAR THE CONCERT.

Any number of us went across to the concert given by Frances Nourse of Sacramento, when Virginia White, the Oakland girl, made her first public appearance as a violinist. She was warmly applauded and showered with flowers and we were proud of her! Virginia White was a school mate of Mrs. Frank Wells, nee Hush (who also plays the violin so well), and she studied under Loeffler in Boston for four years.

THE FRANK WILSON ANNIVERSARY.

The big Frank M. Wilson silver anniversary affair takes place in Berkeley tonight, and society from all sides of the bay is preparing to be there.

The house is rather small, so supper is to be served in a tent in the gardens.

There has been 500 cards sent to friends in the East and 400 to people here. Mrs. William M. Hoyt and Miss Josephine Landon, have come out from Chicago especially for the occasion, and after stopping with Mrs. Wilson for a time, will tour Southern California with relatives of Mr. Wilson. Others in the receiving line will be President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, ex-President and Mrs. Martin Kellogg, Professor and Mrs. Charles M. Gayley, Professor and Mrs. Thomas R. Bacon, Professor and Madame S. V. Paget, Professor and Mrs. Carl Plehn, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Metcalf, Professor and Mrs. Frederick Slate, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bunnell, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Day, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rickard, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine G. Hush and Mrs. Henry Wetherbee.

FIRST DANCE OF LA JEUNESSE.

The first dance of La Jeunesse, which took place at Native Sons' Hall last night, was of course simply fine, and any number of us went over from this side. Marion Hall, who makes her debut at Mrs. Mee's tea at the St. Dunstan today, wore white, Margaret Mee was in pink liberty silk, Helen Shafter of Berkeley, who is to be one of Agnes Duff's attendants, wore black net over white silk, with velvet ribbons, her sister Mary wearing a beautiful gauze gown of white and silver over white silk, the corsage edged with silver lacy knots.

Ethel Kitzmiller had on a lovely dress of spangled net over white satin, the skirt finished off with a deep accordion plaited ruffle of chiffon edged with white roses and leaves. Mrs. Charles Lyman Bent of Alameda was one of the handsomest women in the room, and wore a white shirred gown of tulle over white satin. Her coat beautifully embroidered.

Mrs. Bent and her sister, Mrs. Lansing, are, by the way, entertaining the officers of the New York at the University Club, this afternoon, covers at luncheon being laid for twenty-two.

TEA FOR MRS. DUNPHY.

I see that Madame La Bavarde, has in last night's Bulletin, the list of girls who are to assist Mrs. Linda H. Bryan in receiving at her tea, of which I have already written something in this letter. Mrs. Bryan is a very handsome and fascinating woman, and is doing some excellent work for one of the newspapers across the bay. Her receiving party is to be made up of Florence Bailey, who recently made her debut, and looked lovely in white chiffon at La Jeunesse last night; Elsie Cook, Mabel Taylor, Elsie Ben Reed, Mrs. Willard F. Williamson, Mrs. William Watt, Miss Viva Nicholson, Mrs. Misses Crellin, Mrs. Maxwell Taft, Mrs. Roy Mauvais, Mrs. James G. Allen, Mrs. Churchill Taylor, Mrs. George S. DEATH OF AN INFANT.

Hazel Mary Barron, aged four years, died yesterday at the home of her parents, 820 Grove Street. The remains will be taken to Hayward for interment.

IT WOULD APPEAR THAT LOCAL REMEDIES WOULD BE BEST FOR CURE OF CATARRH.

It would seem at first glance that catarrh being a disease of the mucous membrane, that salves, sprays, etc., being applied directly to the membranes of the nose and throat, would be the most rational treatment, but this has been proven not to be true.

The mucous membrane is made and repaired from the blood and catarrh is a blood disease and any remedy to make a permanent cure must act on the blood, and when the blood is purified from catarrhal poison, the mucous membrane of the mucous membrane will become natural and healthy.

In this climate, thousands of people suffer from catarrh of the nose and throat, it gets better at times but each winter becomes gradually deeper seated and after a time the sufferer resigns himself to it as a necessary evil. Catarrh of the nose and throat, however, as catarrh sufferers, but are nearly all so inconvenienced and ineffective as to render their use a nuisance nearly as annoying as catarrh itself. Many who have used douches, sprays and powders will bear witness to their inconvenience and failure to really cure.

The number of excellent internal remedies for catarrh, but probably the best and certainly the safest is a new remedy, composed of Red Gum, Blood Root and similar cathartic remedies, and other valuable cathartic remedies.

This remedy is in tablet form, pleasant to the taste and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. Many catarrh sufferers, however, may use these tablets with absolute assurance that they contain no cocaine, opiate or any poisonous mineral whatever.

A leading druggist in Albany, speaking of catarrh cures, says: "I have sold various catarrh cures for years, but have never sold any which gave such general satisfaction as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They contain in a pleasant, concentrated form all the best and latest catarrh remedies and catarrh sufferers, who have used douches, sprays and salves, have been astonished at the quick relief and permanent results obtained after a week's use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets." All druggists sell full sized packages for fifty cents.

Large Part of it Will Come From Dump of Melrose Smelter.

The Dump is Controlled By W. H. MacKinnon.

The actual work of raising and widening the Twelfth street dam, from Fallon street to First avenue, will begin next week and it is expected that the improvement will be completed within three months.

The Hutchinson-Ransome Company, which secured the contract for the work has about completed the preliminary work of driving piers and it is expected that the work of filling can be started Monday. During the time that the work is in progress, the dam will be closed to traffic and the Street Department is repairing the Eighth street bridge to be used by both vehicles and pedestrians.

The first work on the dam will be the rock filling and after the foundations have settled the earth filling will be put on. The dirt will be taken from Newton Point near the Lake and negotiations for the rock are now pending between the contractors and W. H. MacKinnon. It is the desire of the contractors to use the rock from the old Melrose smelter dump at Melrose station, which is controlled by MacKinnon, and a satisfactory arrangement will probably be effected before Monday.

The dam will be raised five feet at its lowest point and will be widened twenty feet. When completed it will be 110 feet wide.

There will be a bitumen bicycle path seven feet wide on the north side, besides two six-foot sidewalks. The contract calls for the work to be completed before March 1st, but the contractors say it will be completed within three months.

MODERATED BY SHERIFF

ASSAILANT OF MARY MALONEY EVADES FURIOUS MOB OF LYNCHERS.

IRONTON, Ohio, Nov. 29.—Shortly before 3 o'clock this morning a mob attempted to take William Glass, the assailant of Mary Maloney, from the County Jail, but was held back by the sheriff. It is believed he was taken to the Portsmouth Jail.

Glass admitted assaulting Miss Maloney, and said it was done in revenge for her brother striking him. The girl is in a serious condition. Glass knocked her down by a blow on the head, but did not harm her seriously. He was tried by the grand jury.

The work of the blacksmiths is considered the best on record. The sheriff arrived from Dayton, Ohio, yesterday noon and at once followed the trail to the place of assault in roundabout courses to the school where William Glass had been arrested. They went over the course a second time, followed by thousands of enraged people. It was evident to the authorities that lynching was contemplated. The sheriff and his posse selected fifty men as leaders in the general movement on the army and left. At the army they found the best of the county and they would search for him. On being refused they opened fire with revolvers, and Captain Thompson narrowly escaped. When the mob could do nothing at the army, it moved on to the jail.

The sheriff refused the demand for the keys. The mob moved off to secure better roads. With this in mind the sheriff and his posse at once sallied forth from the rear of the jail and escaped to Portsmouth. While the mob was in the jail, Glass was frightened and confessed to the crime. The mob is trying to organize to go to Portsmouth.

BATTERY CASE AGAINST GEORGE
BACON WILL BE RESET.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 29.—The trial of George Bacon on a charge of battery against his wife, Mrs. Grace Bacon, which took place yesterday in the recorder's Court, resulted in a disagreement of the jury. The case will come up Tuesday to be reset.

A similar charge against Bacon, made by Mrs. Bacon's father, is pending.

District Attorney George Samuels, assisted by Judge J. M. Rawson of San Leandro, conducted the case for the people. Attorney M. W. Simpson appeared for the defense. Bacon's wife still shows the effects of the beating. It is alleged, her husband gave her. She testified that her husband came to her father's home, 1316 Sherman street, on the evening of the 19th inst. to secure their little son. She asked him to prove some statements she asserted he had made about her staying out all night and spending foolishly money he had given her to provide for their children. The interview closed, she said, with a terrible blow in the left eye from her husband, who then dragged her downstairs. When they reached the middle of the street, Mrs. Bacon testified that her angry spouse again attacked her, knocked her out with another blow that covered her face with blood. Her father attempted to rescue her, and was himself beaten by Bacon.

Bacon denied that he had lifted a hand against his wife, and the defense tried to show that Mrs. Bacon sustained the black eye and other injuries by falling. Among the witnesses who testified were Bacon's mother, Miss Bernice Nichols, Miss Edith Bacon, the elder Nichols, the defendant and his wife.

Z. T. GILPIN MAY RUN FOR MAYOR

There is considerable talk about town talk in behalf of Z. T. Gilpin for Mayor. It is said he would still be Treasurer and Tax Collector of this municipality in a position to which he was elected six consecutive times, had he not "ditched with the Municipal League Party" for the nomination last year. Mr. Gilpin has been a consistent Republican, his friends say, all through his political career. He has certainly proved himself very popular with the voters of Oakland.

"ROUGH HOUSE" BURNS MEETS WITH DEFEAT.

HARRY FOLEY WINS THE FIGHT AT THE ACME CLUB—ELABORATE PLANS FOR POULTRY SHOW—NEWS OF THE FIELD AND TURF.

The great recuperative powers of "Rough-House" Burns were all needed last night in his battle at the Acme Club with Harry Foley, for the Eastern fighter came in contact with the mat just thirty times, and lasted the limit. The bout was awarded to Foley by Referee Eddie Smith with the approval of the spectators.

Throughout the fight Burns was but a human punching bag for the local man, but proved to be able to take all kinds of punishment and come back for more. In fact Burns looked like the slashing he received and laughed every time he was put to the floor.

Burns is a fighter without a guard and depends upon getting inside the other man's blows and by rough tactics wear him down. He is a very rough fighter and several times both men went down while in a clinch.

The first round was the only time that Burns made a showing and in this period he had Foley badly scared and when coming out of a clinch he hit Foley a blow on the left side that nearly closed it. But this was the only round in which the Eastern fighter had the advantage. Foley began the use of straight lefts and found them effective to keep Burns at a distance.

It was in the seventh round that Burns commenced going to the mat. In this round he was put down three times and would have remained down the last time had not a photographer exploded some flash-light powder that brought him to his feet. The spectators thought that "Rough-House" was all in and commenced reaching for their hats, but the same Eastern continued the uneven mill and by going to the floor on the average of six times a round managed to stay the limit.

At the conclusion of the fight Burns could take more punishment if necessary, and announced to the representatives of the press that he could fight Foley all night and would have whipped him had he not had to give away so much weight. Fred Brown put Young Chavinsky to sleep in the fourth round of the preliminary after being the aggressor all through the bout.

The second preliminary was a clever one between a young negro known as "K" Howard and Tommy Cox, hailing from Australia. It was a neat, fast bout, with the advantage slightly in favor of the colored youth. It went the limit of

SACRAMENTO LOSES TO THE LOCALS.

STRONG WIND STIFFENS LIMBS OF THE SENATORS AND THEY LOSE.

A heavy wind blew across the diamond at San Francisco yesterday and the Sacramento baseball players got the abutment in their running gear. Oakland took the game by the score of three to one. The Senators played the kind of ball they put up at the beginning of the season.

Pete Lohman's arm went back on him yesterday, and he made some bad passes to the second station. It was the two bad throws of Lohman in one inning that gave Sacramento its one run. Schmidt was in good form and held everybody down to two hits. Oakland succeeded in connecting with the leather eight times, but the hits were at imprudent times and the blunders were only productive of three tallies.

The same teams play across the bay today.

LOS ANGELES, November 29.—San Francisco was unable to hit Hall yesterday, which accounts for their defeat and the score of 4 to 2. Glendon, on the other hand, was easy for the Los Angeles and they won in spite of their errors.

GOOD WORK FOR THE DOLL SHOW

A number of little girls assisted by one boy, originated and carried out successfully an entertainment which netted two dollars, which they wished to be used for the benefit of the "littiest babies" as they quaintly expressed it. At a recent meeting of the Board of Managers of the West Oakland Home this sum was turned over to the treasurer as their share to be added to the receipts derived from the Doll Show which will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings of next week at Maple Hall, corner of Fourteenth and Webster streets.

These active little workers in charity consisted of the following children: Grace Ewing, Anita and Katherine Crellin, Florence Wheeler, Dorothy Wilson, Gertrude and Katherine Bangs, Bessie Broadwell, Bessie Dargie, Bessie Bromwell, Elizabeth and Harold Williams.

POLITICAL GOSSIP ABOUT THE CONGRESSMEN.

Kahn Will Not Contest Livernash's Election—Coombs' Career—The Case of Garrouette—Loud's District Will be an Open One.

(Special to the TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Two men prominent in the State's political life, have announced their intention of retiring from the public arena with the New Year. One of these is Justice Garrouette and the other Frank Coombs, Congressman from the Second district.

Garrouette staked his political all upon the outcome of his recent campaign for the Chief Justiceship. He could have had the nomination for Associate Justice again, almost without the asking and would undoubtedly have been elected by an overwhelming vote, but he declined on the score that he had reached a period in his career where he could not afford to stand still and that another twelve years in his old place would have carried him over the age limit, where the opportunities to make fame and fortune are the best.

Garrouette's political career had been one of uninterrupted success. From District Attorney of Yolo County, he graduated to the Superior Bench and was elected to the Supreme Court while yet in the early thirties. Had he secured the Chief Justiceship he could have filled that office feeling that he was going ahead and now that he has lost it, he proposes to press to the front along another path.

Few people know how near Garrouette came to getting the nomination. Had he gone to Sacramento to look after his own fight, there is little doubt that the order of business that proved fatal to his ambitions would have been changed and that he then would have been able to poll his full strength. As things transpired, his nomination did not come under consideration until after the bitter Governor's fight, by which time a number of his friends and adherents had been traded off, and in some instances the reasons for promised support had disappeared.

The ambition of J. O. Hayes of San Jose to be Governor is what defeated Garrouette. Hayes had been doing politics with Ruef and Schmitz so as to enlist the labor vote in his behalf and under MacKenzie in San Jose—a plan in which he succeeded. It will be recalled that shortly before the State convention, Ruef, thinking the race an open one, induced Hayes to be a dark horse candidate for Governor, and in that capacity the Santa Clara went to Sacramento with his delegation.

Judge Lorigan of San Jose also had hopes, however, of getting on the State ticket. He had been a quiet aspirant for Associate Justice for many months and if things could be turned that way for him, it was sure that the attempt would be made. Hayes knew this and also realized that if Lorigan should get the nomination ahead of the gubernatorial fight his own hopes would go glimmering. In consequence, his friend Ruef made a request to be appointed chairman of the committee on order of business, so that the tacitly understood arrangement to have the judicial nomination come first could be changed, and the Governor's fight given the right of way. As soon as this program became evident there was consternation in the Garrouette camp. The Judge was not present to guide things to suit himself, and those in charge held a hasty consultation and decided to attempt to have the order of business rearranged as at first agreed. They could not make any headway in that regard, though, and to make a long story short, Garrouette's fight was tracked until the gubernatorial contest was over and he lost by about twenty votes. In figuring it out afterwards, the Judge declared that had the judicial nominations come first he would have been an easy winner, as some of the opposition that declared against him could not have been asserted with the gubernatorial contest hanging fire.

However, it is an ancient history now and Garrouette looks at the matter philosophically and says it may mean much more to him in the long run. He declares that his judicial career is ended, and after the first of the year he will engage in private practice. He has had several offers of partnership from prominent firms, but has not yet reached a decision as to what he will do.

COOMBS' CAREER.

Frank Coombs also declares that he is out of politics. For a man as young as he still is, Coombs has seen much public life, his record during the past few years embracing such important positions as Speaker of the Assembly, Minister to Japan, State Librarian, United States Attorney and two terms as Congressman. Coombs is one of the many who declare that there is nothing in politics, for despite all the honors and responsibilities that have been placed on his hands, he leaves public life with little to show for it but an honorable record. During his career as a politician, scores of his personal friends, who began life when he did and under the same circumstances, have amassed fortunes practicing law or in business, while the salaries he has received have been expended in entertainments, campaign outlays and the many other varied methods of eating up a public man's income.

Coombs attributes his defeat to a large extent to the attitude he assumed in the Governor's fight. A number of Gage's friends brought pressure upon him and wanted him to work in their interests with the Napa delegation and other representatives from his Congressional district, and when Coombs decided to get into the fight they whittled their knives and awaited the opportunity that came to them a few months later. The Sacramento vote is what hurt him most, for he held his own elsewhere and made a good run under the circumstances.

Coombs says he will now hang out his shingle and go at practicing law in real earnest. His present term will not expire until March 1, so until that time he will make his headquarters at Washington, and will have a few months in which to make arrangements for his new career. He will probably open offices at his old home in Napa, though it is in the possibilities that he will locate in San Francisco.

BELL MAY HOLD ON.

The Republican leaders are viewing with some alarm the conditions in Coombs' district, for they fear that Bell will do as De Vries did and make the district Democratic, as far as Congressman is concerned, for the next ten years. It is not a hard matter to switch a Congressional district around that way—all that is needed is to be a live, active representative, watchful of the needs of the various counties and always in touch with the constituency. Maguire in San Francisco built up the Fourth that way. It was Republican when he beat Charley Alexander at the polls, and he succeeded in getting it as high as 10,000 Democratic during the following six years. Maguire actually became invulnerable in the district, and would probably have been representing it yet had he not listened to the voice of the temper and got into the gubernatorial fight.

NEEDHAM'S STRENGTH.

Needham's case is another in point. Every politician knows that the political complexion of his district is positively Democratic, for it contains the counties of the San Joaquin, where the dyed-in-the-wool Democrats have their headquarters. Yet year in and year out he carries these Democratic counties by ever-increasing majorities and there is little doubt that he will stay where he is as long as he wants to. Probably somebody will some day succeed in prevailing upon him to get into the suicidal fray of a gubernatorial contest, but until that time comes he can count with remarkable certainty upon drawing his $5,000 a year from Uncle Sam.

DE VRIES WAS POPULAR.

De Vries, in the Second district, furnished perhaps the best illustration of all, for he represented a section of the State that on all other matters but his was very positive in its Republicanism. De Vries though defied all comers and only resigned the reins when he was offered the plum of $7,500 a year for life as General Appraiser. Coombs succeeded and the indications were that he would hold the district indefinitely, for the moment De Vries was out of the way, it promptly became Republican again.

As Bell is wide awake and up-to-date, the Republicans therefore fear that unless by herculean effort they wrest it from him two years from now they may lose it altogether—for ten years at least until a new reapportionment is made. They will therefore strive to bring out the strongest man in the district two years hence, for if they do not reclaim it in the early stages of Bell's career their opportunity will be lost.

There is some talk that Judge Hart of Sacramento will be prevailed upon to take the nomination next time; if so, he will keep Bell busy, for the Judge has always been a popular candidate and would carry Sacramento County by a large majority.

WHAT WILL KAHN DO?

Whether or not Julius Kahn will try conclusion with Livernash again is an open question. He has not yet abandoned hope as regards the recent election, for, although he does not intend to make a contest at Washington, he has hopes that the sharp tally that will be taken for him when the votes are counted in the Brown-Alford contest will cut down to zero the majority now credited to the Labor representative.

Kahn has concluded that a contest at Washington would avail but little, for the Republicans there would not want to take snap judgment on a representative of the Labor party, they are at present so industriously endeavoring to cater to. Furthermore, to retire Livernash in that way would make him a political martyr and two years from now Kahn would suffer in consequence. Unless, therefore, the recount shows Kahn's election, Livernash will take his seat unchallenged and the problem then to be tackled will be how to get him out of it in 1905. The Examiner will, of course, champion Livernash with every resource at its command, and as he is a smart fellow, he is sure to make the right kind of connections at Washington.

Kahn will naturally want to run against him once more, but judging by the present gossip there will be a number of Republicans seeking the nomination in 1905. This is only natural, however, in view of the fact that the district is wholly in San Francisco.

THE FIFTH DISTRICT.

Loud's district will be an open one next time beyond doubt. Wynn beat Loud, not on his own merits but because such a bitter fight was waged from so many sources against the representative of the Postal Committee. Nobody has an idea that Wynn can carry it again if the right kind of Republican is put up against him. Nominally, the district is strongly Republican, for the two outside counties—San Mateo and Santa Clara—are very pronounced in that faith, while the San Francisco end has always lived up to that way also, when the issue was directly made.

Loud, of course, is out of the running in the future. There are rumors afoot that he will be provided with a good Government job by the Administration in return for the way he championed its interests for many years with the letter carriers' bill, but all that sort of talk is speculative and has no foundation other than that it is not likely that Loud will be forgotten altogether by the interests he has befriended.

There will be plenty of applicants for the nomination in Loud's district two years from now, for it has always provided candidates galore. They bobbed up serenely, even with a formidable man like Loud in the field, so now that he is out of the way it is a sure thing that they will be on hand in full force next time the nomination is to be given out.

PRIZE WINNERS AT GOLDEN GATE.

AWARDS MADE AT THE BALL GIVEN BY THE WOODMEN OF THE WORLD.

GOLDEN GATE, Nov. 29.—So original and well sustained were the characters at the masquerade ball given by the Bay Tree Camp, Woodmen of the World, in Klunkner's Hall on Thanksgiving eve, that the judges had a hard time selecting those deserving the prizes. The masquerades were exceptionally well carried out and many novel ideas were portrayed. The judges finally decided that Miss Elsie Adler, cashier for J. H. McMenomy, was entitled to first prize. She portrayed the character of "The Queen," and her gown was most magnificent and the character well sustained.

The prize for the most original character went to Mrs. A. Hines, who was attired to represent the emblem of the Woodmen of the World. The prize for the best sustained character was taken by Miss Ethel Langford, dressed girl, Elsie Adler; best dressed gentleman, R. Deluchi; best group, L. Deluchi and Ida Overguth; honorable mention, Mrs. Frank Dixon.

Some of those that were present in mask were: L. Hesselbacher, baseball player; O. A. Olsen, soldier; L. Deluchi, Indian; E. Brandt, German; A. Langford, washerwoman; C. O'Connor, Hop Lee; A. L. Hines, butcher; Mrs. A. Hines, emblem of Woodcraft; Mrs. P. S. Hines, fairy; W. Jamieson, housewife; E. Howell, cowboy; E. Perry, "Rags"; Ethel Gusshe, "rag time"; Lele Leech, sailor boy; Ida Overguth, Indian queen; Miss Frances Adler, gypsy girl; Mrs. Langford, red cross nurse.

REMOVING THE TREES.

Permission has finally been obtained from Alfred Dietz to remove several large shade trees from in front of his residence at this place, so that the work of improving the street might be continued. The trees stood in the line of the proposed gutter along San Pablo avenue and Mr. Dietz was loth to allow the trees down and remove the roots. When that work is finished the construction of the gutter will then be resumed.

RETURNED HOME. O. L. Menefee has returned home from a visit to St. Helena.

PREPARING FOR HOLIDAYS. Captain McMenomy of this place is having his shop completely renovated in preparation for the holidays.

COMMENCES WORK. The Transit Company commenced to fill in between their tracks at this place yesterday with crushed rock. The street on both sides of the tracks has been improved for some time and when the work of the Transit Company is finished the avenue will be completed.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS HOLD SERVICES.

On Wednesday evening last Aloha and Piedmont Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, held joint Thanksgiving services at Pythian Temple in addition to routine work. Aloha Parlor initiated a new member—Miss Rosalie Wheeler of Berkeley. After a short recess for congratulations, an interesting program appropriate to the occasion was rendered, including the reading of a short passage from the scriptures by Mrs. H. V. Sanborn, the worthy President of Aloha Parlor. Songs and instrumental music followed, also papers on the origin and customs of Thanksgiving Day. A feature of the evening was the reading of both the Presidential and gubernatorial proclamations, also that of Abraham Lincoln, issued near the close of the Civil War.

At the conclusion of the literary exercises all present adjourned to the banquet room, where a delightful collation was served. The room was decorated with garlands of flowers and added to from the chandeliers to the sides of the room. On the tables were bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums, and the soured were yellow tinted cards bearing the inscription "Thanksgiving Eve, November 29th, 1902. N. D. G. W. Parlor united in sending a telegraphic Thanksgiving message to Miss E. D. Keth at Ventura.

BREEZY STORIES IN THE "TOWN TALK."

There are thirty-six pages in today's "Town Talk," the contents of which are as usual very vivacious and entertaining. The Saunterer tells how Dan Burns rose and fell, and how Will Hearst was treated to a heady banquet. The Chief Dealing wedding and the week's teas and engagements are discussed. There is a dissertation on the follies and foibles of local exclusiveness, and other paragraphs that amuse or interest. The story of Jeffery Lewis is told at length, and some reminiscences of the old Masonic Temple make interesting reading. The usual good story, the pages of bright miscellany and breezy departments complete the number.

RAILROAD NEWS FROM WEST OAKLAND YARDS.

Roundhouse Will be Removed to New Ground—Modoc is in Service—Personal Notes.

The inadequacy of the building at present used by the Southern Pacific Company for a round house at the West Oakland railroad yards has been well known by the officials for some time past and they have been trying to find some plan to remedy this evil. It is now announced, semi-officially, that the round house is to be moved from its present site to the land recently reclaimed by the Southern Pacific Company. This statement is given credence by many of the shop men and all acknowledge that the round house is totally unfit for the work attributed to it and that the reclaimed land is the only place that is suitable for a building to house the locomotives.

The capacities of the present round house is limited to less than a dozen locomotives and as a result there are continually standing about the yards as many more awaiting a turn. Again, many locomotives that are on the Western division that should be brought to the West Oakland yards for treatment have to be taken elsewhere so small is the house room here for them.

When the present round house was constructed it was in a good position, but in the rapid growth of the shops around it, the facilities for handling the engines are considerably retarded, and in order to run a locomotive in the round house a great deal of unnecessary switching has to be done that would be avoided were the round house located on the fill. Here the locomotives could be run in the round house in a direct line from the main tracks and would not have to be taken around a number of buildings and a network of tracks.

To give further weight to the statement it is pointed out that for some time past the railroad company has not made any extensive repairs to the round house, and that they have made additions, although both were and are badly needed. On the other hand not a single building has been erected on the reclaimed land, or fill, but a number of tracks have been laid out and in such a way that would indicate that the object was a round house. At present the tracks are used to store oil cars, but it is little thought among the shopmen that the Southern Pacific Company would spend thousands of dollars reclaiming a piece of land of many acres only to use it to store oil cars on.

Sacramento and Rocklin both have round houses a great deal larger and larger than the one at the West Oakland yards and with the great demand here for a suitable one, it is not thought that the work of construction will be long delayed. It is thought that the material used will be brick, there would be less danger from fire were the building so constructed. At present the time the company is receiving a large cargo of brick, the purpose of which is not known.

When the head officials are approached on the matter, they will neither confirm or deny the statement that the fill is to be used as a site for the new round house and refer the matter up higher. But all admit the inadequacy of the present round house and the practicability of the fill being used for a site. The matter will soon be determined one way or the other.

When the increasing travel and the wear and tear on the locomotives makes it imperative that some action be taken immediately.

OIL FUEL SYSTEM BEING CONSTRUCTED.

Within a short time the Southern Pacific Company will have a system of complete stations where oil can be fed to the oil burning locomotives. For weeks a gang of men have been stationed at Benicia, Vallejo and Port Costa constructing and erecting a number of tanks that will eventually contain oil that will be fed to the oil burners. The work is about finished and by the time several other towns on the Western division are furnished with the huge tanks, the Southern Pacific Company will have a complete system of oil feeding stations for its locomotives.

A gang of men comprising about fifteen men, will soon commence the construction of a large oil tank near where the new narrow gauge pier will be and the same gang have just finished building a number of smaller tanks in the southern part of the State for the company.

Sacramento and Stockton are equipped with oil tanks and one has just been finished at San Francisco, and these are the others that have been built and mentioned from time to time.

The railroad officials state that the oil stations will not of a necessity be less than one hundred miles apart on an average, and out the desert and other places that demand it, the stations will not have to be less than two hundred and fifty miles apart, so great is the capacity of the new tenders.

When more oil burning locomotives are introduced it is figured that before 1904, the Southern Pacific Company will have consumed not less than 6,000,000 barrels of oil.

SWITCHMEN MAY GET AN INCREASE IN PAY.

The recent granting of the switchmen at Chicago, Salt Lake and Omaha of an increase in pay amounting to 10 and 12 per cent, has encouraged the switchmen here and they think that the action of the other railroads will force the Southern Pacific Company to recognize them. The Switchmen's Union have already filed a demand with the Southern Pacific Company for an increase in wages, but so far their demands have not been answered. The conductors are also preparing a demand on the company for more wages.

WILL SEND FIREMAN TO FIREMAN'S FUNERAL.

The night employees at the shops are taking up a collection to purchase a floral tribute to place on the grave of H. W. Davis, the fireman, who was killed in the freight wreck at Benicia. Davis was a member of the Brotherhood of Firemen, and by his death his relatives get an insurance of $1,500. The deceased was at one time employed in the night shift at the shops and was well liked among the boys. Out of respect to his death and that of Engineer Foster, the flag at the yards has been placed at half-mast.

CARGOES OF COAL FOR THE DEPARTMENTS.

The railroad company has commenced getting in another installment of winter coal and Long Wharf, where the colliers are unloading, presents a busy scene. Over fifteen thousand tons of coal are being unloaded at the wharf, and part of it taken to the bunkers at the yards. The British collier Algoa and the collier Alaska have just brought in locomotive and fuel coal, and are at present at the Long Wharf discharging their cargoes.

A large quantity of Cumberland blacksmith coal arrived at the yards Thursday and more is expected next week.

PILE DRIVER IS AT WORK AGAIN.

The old pile driver that was sunk during the last storm has been fitted up at the shipyards and is now again in service, and is doing duty driving piles at the site of the new narrow gauge ferry slip.

STEAMER FIREMAN BREAKS HIS THIGH.

While Fireman C. Kane of the freight steamer Transit was firing the engines Friday morning, he, in some unaccountable way slipped and fell, breaking his thigh. Besides being very painful, the injury will incapacitate him for some time. The injured man has been removed to the railroad hospital in San Francisco for treatment.

WILL BE USED AS AN OIL TANK.

The Southern Pacific Company recently purchased from the Rison Iron Works a huge iron boiler that the Rison Iron Company removed from the tug Collis when a new boiler was placed in that boat. The boiler is about fourteen feet in diameter and about eleven feet in depth and weighs nearly thirty-five tons. It was brought across the bay on a barge and landed at the shipyard where it was from the machine shop will remove the fixtures and the company will use the boiler as an oil tank. It is not known where the tank will be placed when completed, but as its capacity is not large, it may be put in use around the yards.

PERSONAL MENTION OF THE RAILROAD MEN.

John McKeen, who had charge of the pumping plant at Nevada, is confined at the railroad hospital in San Francisco, with rheumatism, expected to return to work about the first of the month.

John Robinson and Joe Biven, who found the body of W. Vogt, recently run over by a train on the mole, appeared at the inquest last night as witnesses.

Mr. Hawley is at the railroad hospital suffering from an attack of rheumatism. Charles Christensen of the material gang is under the treatment of Dr. Carr for some foreign substance that has become lodged in one of his eyes.

Mr. J. Hubertford and brother visited their father, Colonel Hubertford, at his home in California this week.

H. Carlick, foreman of the Tracy round house, paid the yards a visit this week and renewed his friendship with many of the boys.

BUILDING AN IMMENSE PILE DRIVER FOR PIER WORK.

Work has been commenced at the shipyards on an immense pile driver that, when finished, will be used to hasten the construction of the new narrow-gauge pier. The pile driver will be fifty-six feet in length, twenty-two feet in width and about five feet high. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $2,500, and it will be several weeks yet before the affair will be finished, although work is being hurried as rapidly as possible.

BIG SHIPMENT OF LUMBER AT THE YARDS.

Over fifty thousand feet of lumber to be used in the milling department arrived at the yards this week and this is only a part of the what is on the way. The lumber will be used for barges, repairing and what other work calls for it. A shipment of twelve thousand feet of lumber to be used as fenders was also received at the yards for the use of the ship department.

SHOPS WERE CLOSED ON THANKSGIVING.

The railroad shops were closed on Thanksgiving Day and the employees spent the time according to their own fancy. Some went hunting, others visited friends here and in neighboring towns, while others stayed at home and dined. All greatly enjoyed the day and the dinner.

WRECKING CREW GOES TO BENICIA.

Foreman Gibson of the wrecking crew has left with his gang for Benicia where they will clear away the wreck of the two freight trains that resulted in the loss of life last Thursday morning.

BRINGS AN AUTOMOBILE FROM THE EAST.

Foreman Charles Eckland of the Round House has returned from a trip to the East and with him he brings an automobile. All day Thursday he and his wife spent the time dashing about in the machine.

ENGINE REPAIR SHOPS KEPT VERY BUSY.

Busy times are experienced in the locomotive repair shops these days and at the present time there are just nine locomotives under the course of repair. No. 8, the engine that usually draws the flyer, was among these. Engine No. 140, which participated in the recent wreck near Merced is still tied up in the shops and will be given a thorough overhauling and it will be about six weeks yet before she is on the rails.

RIVER STEAMER MODOC WILL GO INTO SERVICE.

The river steamer Modoc, that has been so long on the ship yard ways, being rebuilt from the effects of a fire, will be declared in commission next Sunday when she will take the river steamer Apache's place while that boat is being repaired. The Modoc has been out of service nearly two months. The new steamship, which next Sunday she will be in charge of her old commander, Captain J. B. Myrick, who has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company for over twenty-five years.

The Modoc has cost the company a great deal of money to rebuild, but she is a fine ship and is the handsomest boat on the river as well as the largest.

ALTERATIONS FOR THE STEAMER APACHE.

The river steamer Apache will be brought on the ship yards ways next Monday to have some alteration and changes made on her. At present the Apache has a square jacket around her smokestack. This will be changed to a square one with round corners in order that the danger from fire may be lessened.

The sailors' quarters will be made absolutely by lining the walls with zinc and fitting up the quarters with iron bedsteads and wire mattresses. Two new rooms will be built on aft and several other changes will be made in the steamer and it is expected that it will be fully a week before she goes in commission again and then it will be to alternate the trips with the Modoc.

Daughters of the American Revolution

Daughters of the American Revolution and has one great parent society with divisions in many States; for the society is not confined to the South but has branches wherever Southern women have gone to dwell.

The objects of this association are historical, educational, memorial, benevolent and social; to fulfil the duties of charity to the survivors of the war between the States and those dependent upon them, to collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the war; to protect historical places of the Confederacy; to record the part taken by Southern women in the work of reconstruction after the war and in patient endurance of hardship and patriotic devotion during the struggle; to honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States; and to cherish the ties of friendship among the members of the society.

MME. HARTWIG.

One of the very few American women who have attained position at a continental court without marrying a foreign dignitary himself attached here is Mme. Rogers Hartwig, a child of the Green mountains of Vermont, but now lady-in-waiting and court singer to Her Majesty Queen Carmen Silva, of Roumania.

WOMEN

MYSTERS GRILLED IN THE CHAFING-DISH.

Put into the chafing-dish two tablespoons of butter and one tablespoon of sour. Stir with a whisk till like a paste, then pour in one cup of strained vigor liquid and four tablespoons of cream. When it begins to boil add two-tablespoons and a dust of paprika and salt. Put on the lid and allow the stew to cook for about two minutes. Then the lids will be curled up. Serve in bouillon cups with saline wafers.

WANTED IT FRESH.

"And do you understand," asked the understander, "how the fellow who prays for your 'daily bread'?"

"Oh, yes," replied little Elsie, "that's what we'll be sure to have it fresh."—Buff-

HER TROUBLED LIFE.

In a cemetery at Middlebury, Vt., is a stone, erected by a widow to her loving husband, bearing the inscription:

"Rest in peace—until we meet again."
Life.

HIS WIFE A CLOCK.

Stranger—How soon will the next trolley car go by here?

Farmer—Marry, how soon'll yew be ready tewe take th' next trolley car?
His wife—Just ten minutes, Josh.

Farmer—Then the next car'll go by in five minutes.

Crowd all thy canvas on,
Cut though the foam;
Christian! cast anchor now—
Heaven is thy home!

THE MAN HE KILLED.

Scene: The settle of the Fox Inn, Stag-ford lane.

Characters: The speaker (a returned soldier), and his friends, natives of the hamlet.

Had he and I but met
By some old ancient inn,
We should have sat us down to wet
Right many a nipperkin.

But ranged as infantry,
And staring face to face,
I shot at him, as he at me,
And killed him in his place.

I shot him dead—because—
Because he was my foe,
And so, I wote well, because he was;
That's clear enough; although
He thought: he'd 'list, perhaps,
Offhand-like—just as I—
Was out of work—had sold his traps—
No other reason why.

Yes; quaint and curious war is! It is!
You shoot a fellow down
You'd treat if he were You'd guard him every bar is,
Or half to half a crown.

the quarter in his pocket. The car stopped, another man got on and the conductor went forward to collect his fare.

When he came back he turned to the young man and asked him if he was ready to pay his fare. By this time he had observed that the cigar was lit.

"I handed you my fare once and you refused it," said the disturber of the conductor's peace.

The conductor mumbled something about having thought he was going to get it.

"You haven't got any business to ask," said the man with the stump in an extremely cold-blooded tone. "Mr. Creel here does all the thinking for this end."

"You pay your fare or get off," said the conductor.

"Not me," was the calm reply.

"If you don't pay I'll put you off."

The young man put out a defiant look at him.

"You put your hand on me," he said, "and I'll tear your head right off your shoulders." Understand? Now don't forget it."

By this time the conductor realized that he was up against something he couldn't handle. He turned around and looked at the man at the next seat.

"I'm a first degree and he looked it. Seeing which—"

"If you got that overcoat," calmly instructed the man with the stump.

The conductor fished one from his pocket and handed it over like a man in a hurry.

The man with the stump lit his cigar and enjoyed it down to Warren street, where he got off.

"That fellow," he said, "neither was he ejected nor was he. He looked as if he had had a very

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week the theatergoers of Oakland will have the privilege of hearing the Grand Opera Company which has had such a successful run at the Tivoli Theater in San Francisco.

The company, with Colquhoun, Russo and the others, will be at the Macdonough Theater on those nights and the advance sale of seats shows that grand opera will be well patronized here.

The opera selected are "Carmen," "La Traviata" and "Rigoletto."

The company will bring its own

The other characters will be presented by Henry Shurer, Ernest Howell, Thomas Kelnis, Edwin Emery, George Nichols, Walter Shurer, Arthur Howell, Nichols, Walter Whipple, George Cooper, Agnes Rankin, Margie Pratt, and Leavy and Flora Delaney. "Brown's in Town" continues to and magnificently mounted. Following "Winchester" Miss Nance O'Neil, supported by McKee Rankin, E. J. Rankin, L. R. Stockwell and the Grand Opera House Stock Company will present a series of plays in a manner seldom seen in this city. Never has such an array of talent been seen at popular prices which will prevail notwithstanding the immense expense attending these productions.

TIVOLI COMEDIANS
RETURN FROM TOUR.

Next week comes the return of the favorite Tivoli Comic Opera Company, headed by Ferris Hartman. The company has just finished a most successful tour which extended as far as Denver and Salt Lake, and they are all glad to get back to the home theatre again. Annie Myers, Arthur Cunningham, Edward Webb, Karl Fornes, Tom Guise and Fred Kavanagh are with the returning tourists, and the ranks have been augmented by the addition of Miss Bertha Davis and Miss Gibson, both of whom have been singing with success on the road. The opera selected for the first week will be "The Toy Maker," which has been done so well at this house in the past.

The entire company will be here, Hartman of course appearing in his original creation of the toy maker, Webb will appear as the young novice, Annie Myers as the doll, Cunningham as Brother Mathew, Miss Leicester in the role of Frau Cuggenheimer, and Miss Davis as Peter. The week after will be devoted to repertoire, "The Serenade" to be played on Tuesday night, December 9th, which is the occasion of the turn out of the "Press Club," that organization having secured the theatre for that evening. There will be plenty of fun on this as the opera will be interlarded with jokes and funny verses. Oakland's grand opera on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the company appearing in "Carmen," "La Traviata" and "Rigoletto," at the Macdonough Theatre.

COMIC OPERA AT THE MACDONOUGH THEATER.

The Tivoli Comic Opera Company will be at the Macdonough Theater for one night only, Sunday, November 30th, and will present the Bostonian's big success, "The Serenade." The opera is in three acts, the first taking place in the vicinity of a ruined Spanish castle and the second in the garden and monastery of St. Benedict, adjoining the school of St. Ursula. The plot concerns the effort of the Duke of Santa Cruz to discover a singer, Carlos Alvarado, who has made love to his niece, Dolores, through the medium of the serenade.

Much amusement is developed by the attempt of all the performers to sing the air at the most inopportune times, the chief offender being the tailor, Gomez. The Duke, who is very near sighted, is confused by an exchange of costumes between Dolores and Yvonne, a ballet dancer of the Madrid Opera House, which leads to some amusing situations. The serenade takes refuge in the monastery in the second act, and Gomez goes there to escape the rage of the Duke, who has heard him sing. He gives a copy of the serenade to one of the monks, and when the Duke searches for the singer, he finds to his dismay that the monks and a pet parrot all know the Serenade, and he is baffled in his vengeance. In the third act he is taken a prisoner by the bandits and agrees to marry off his ward and Alvarado, with the proviso that they never sing the Serenade again. It will be given with all the original scenery, costumes and effects from the home theatre in San Francisco. Mr. Hartman will be seen as the Duke and Miss Annie Myers will be Yvonne.

"PICKINGS FROM PUCK"
A DECIDED SUCCESS.

The thing that makes life worth the while is the value of a smile, and that is what you got in "Pickings From Puck," which appeared at the Macdonough Theatre last night and will be produced again this evening. It is a mad whirl of color, with its voices of the chorus, and its dances with a vim and bounce. The scenes are like a game of verbal ping-pong, so deft are they in their Willard Simms, who is the star, has a serious countenance that no cosmetics could give him. Most funny men are not funny to all people, but all people feel that Mr. Simms was cut out for a funny man from his birth. Those who admired his work when he was chief comedian with the Lillian Russell Opera Company, will help crowd the theatre tonight during the last run of this wonderful comedy.

"HAZEL KIRKE" AT THE CENTRAL THEATRE.

The announcement that the program at the Central Theatre next week will be the pathetic drama "Hazel Kirke" has caused a run on the box office. Of all the plays that the English language has produced Hazel Kirke is certainly the greatest run of any piece ever produced in this country, and every time it is revived it seems to acquire greater popularity. The production at the Central will be on a complete scale, and the cast will be a thoroughly capable one. George P. Webster will appear as Dunstan Kirk, the miller who curses his daughter and is cursed himself in return by the sudden malady of blindness. No better selection could be possibly made for this role. For Mr. Webster has already made a great name in it in the East and elsewhere. Eugene Thais Lawton should make thousands laugh at the Macdonough Theatre and in order to permit numbers who have been unable to see the week to gain admission to witness the funny farce comedy, it has been decided to continue it all next week. Monday, December 8th Ernest Hastings, the best leading man the Alcazar ever had, will make his appearance as the sheriff in "In Missouri," which will be remembered as one of his greatest successes. During his absence Mr. Hastings has increased his reputation by a brilliant performance of the principal character in "Lover's LANE." and he will return to San Francisco covered with Eastern laurels. The news of his engagement will be hailed with great satisfaction by the theatrical public here, with whom he has always been a favorite.

NANCE O'NEIL COMING TO GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

"Winchester," a five act romance of Virginia in '63 will be given its first production in this city next week at the Grand Opera House by that most efficient organization, The Grand Opera House Stock Company. As the name would indicate the scenes of the play are laid at Winchester, Va., in 1863. Naturally the war of the Rebellion furnishes the basis of the story, which is a romance dealing with the love of a Southern girl for a Northern soldier, Edward McWade, the author of the play has constructed a drama of great merit. The plot is so conceived, and developed as to hold the interest and sympathy of the auditor, the action is brisk and the climaxes exciting. The play will be strongly cast.

BLACK FLAG AT THE DEWEY THEATER

That intensely sensational English drama, "The Black Flag" will be presented at the Dewey next week. This place is laid in Portland Prison, and concerns the false imprisonment and romantic escape of the hero. The plot consists of the incidents surrounding the attempted murder of the old man by one of his sons. The wrong one is arrested and imprisoned, and although the clever work of the heroine, who is in love with the hero, the truth is discovered. By using the services of a prison guard, which has been employed to release another prisoner, the hero is substituted, and the captain of the little vessel, not knowing the identity of his passenger, takes the hero off the rocks outside Portland Prison, thus making his escape possible.

"The Black Flag" is a very thrilling story of English penitentiary life. It will be presented at the Dewey with some very clever scenery and stage effects, and with some new talent which has just been added to the company.

This Mr. Woods agreed to do, provided the lodge would secure at least ten new members. He and his wife, who are in Selma, will be in readiness when he pays his official visit.

Mr. Woods is the youngest supreme officer in the U. P. E. C. order. He has always exerted every effort in the interest of the lodge and his election to that high office, which took place at the last convention, held this year, met with the approval of all the councils of the order in the State. HEARTY AT SEVENTY CHARGED WITH BICAMY.

AFTER SUFFERING HALF A LIFE-TIME WITH RHEUMATISM.

Another Remarkable Cure Added to the Many Accomplished by Dr.

Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

After suffering nearly half his life-time with rheumatism, Mrs. Jonett E. Frank of this place had to answer to the serious charge of bigamy before a mock court, which constituted part of the evening's amusement at an affair given by Oliver Branch Circle, Women of Woodcraft, on Thursday night.

Atorney Frank was greatly surprised upon being hauled before the court without having prepared any defense. The judge, however, was unimpressed, and Mr. Frank was tried without a moment's preparation. He conducted his own defense, and, although found guilty, he was given his liberty upon promising not to repeat the offense. He was charged with having six wives, the evidence produced by the prosecution witnesses (for there were many of them) was indisputable. Mr. Frank defended himself to the best of his ability, but eloquence counted for nothing, the witness he sent him, accompanied by four of his wives, and since that time it was proven that he had added two more wives to his harem. Indeed, Mr. Frank fairly began to imagine himself a second Brigham Young by the time the prosecution closed. He put up a strong defense, which was respectfully listened to by the court, but in the end he was found guilty as charged.

SMALL BOY IS INSANE.

Yesterday John Mathews, a five-year-old boy, who resides with his father in this place, was taken into custody while in a violent condition. The boy had been subjected to mental tortures for some time, and had only been released from the custody of his father several weeks. Some time ago he had attacked a man with a loaded shot gun and conducted himself in a very strange manner. He was examined by the Lunacy Commission and sent to Agnew's Hospital, where he remained for several months. He was returned to his home in this place a week ago, and was found yesterday by a local officer attempting to gain entrance to a house. Upon being asked what he was doing the boy told a long story of how his father had been making him out and that he was looking for an undertaker to take charge of his father's body when he got through with him. He stated very emphatically that he proposed killing his father, and that he had some one on hand to take charge of the remains. Mathews' delusion was informed of the boy's actions, and together with the night watchman they attempted to take the boy to the local hospital. He was handcuffed and placed in a cage, where the watchman undertook to hold him while the watchman drove. The two men had hardly got into the car when the boy wriggled out of the watchman's hands and ran to the door of the house, where he again expressed his intention to kill his father. The two men took him to the police station, where he was returned to Agnew's until he recovers.

THANKSGIVING SOCIAL.

A Thanksgiving social and supper was given Thursday evening at the home of Oliver Branch Circle, No. 313, Women of Woodcraft. The affair took place in Masonic Hall, and consisted of a fine supper, served by the members, followed by an evening devoted to games and music.

Mr. Frank defended himself to the best of his ability, but eloquence counted for nothing, the witness he sent him, accompanied by four of his wives, and since that time it was proven that he had added two more wives to his harem. Indeed, Mr. Frank fairly began to imagine himself a second Brigham Young by the time the prosecution closed. He put up a strong defense, which was respectfully listened to by the court, but in the end he was found guilty as charged.

SMALL BOY IS INSANE.

Yesterday John Mathews, a five-year-old boy, who resides with his father in this place, was taken into custody while in a violent condition. The boy had been subjected to mental tortures for some time, and had only been released from the custody of his father several weeks. Some time ago he had attacked a man with a loaded shot gun and conducted himself in a very strange manner. He was examined by the Lunacy Commission and sent to Agnew's Hospital, where he remained for several months. He was returned to his home in this place a week ago, and was found yesterday by a local officer attempting to gain entrance to a house. Upon being asked what he was doing the boy told a long story of how his father had been making him out and that he was looking for an undertaker to take charge of his father's body when he got through with him. He stated very emphatically that he proposed killing his father, and that he had some one on hand to take charge of the remains. Mathews' delusion was informed of the boy's actions, and together with the night watchman they attempted to take the boy to the local hospital. He was handcuffed and placed in a cage, where the watchman undertook to hold him while the watchman drove. The two men had hardly got into the car when the boy wriggled out of the watchman's hands and ran to the door of the house, where he again expressed his intention to kill his father. The two men took him to the police station, where he was returned to Agnew's until he recovers.

COURT OF FORESTERS PREPAR-ING FOR AN INTERESTING AFFAIR.

ELMHURST, November 29. — Court
Elmhurst, No. 174, Foresters of America, is making active preparations for its masquerade ball, which will be given on the evening of December 12th. Court Elmhurst has given a number of masquerade balls, all of which have met with success.
The members predict that this affair will eclipse all past events of its kind ever given by the order in Elmhurst. Red Mens' Hall, where the dance is to be held,
will be tastefully decorated for the occasion by a special committee. Other committees are arranging for the prizes and various features of the event.

FACTORY COMPLETED.

The accordion factory, which has been in process of construction in Elmhurst for some time, is now complete, and the work of manufacturing instruments will begin shortly. The factory was built for an Italian, who has a large accordion factory in San Francisco. He claims that the noise of the city interferes with the delicate work of tuning the instruments and has come to Elmhurst for quiet. The factory when in operation requires seven men to handle the work.

LAVISH USE OF LACE ON PARIS OPERA FROCKS

Simplicity of line and beauty of detail are the characteristics of this season's opera gowns, and each creation that adds its bit of color to the kaleidoscope effect is worthy the most minute inspection.

There is no more magnificent spectacle to be seen anywhere than that which a premiere night at the opera house affords. If the gowns worn last season seemed perfection, in the light of their brilliant successors they are only mediocre.

The coming of the opera on the heels of horse show week rushed affairs in dress making realms, so for this season some of the handsomest gowns will appear later on. Embroidery and lace, the one wrought upon the other, is the favored style of decoration, and the magnificence of the design quite overshadows the gown fabric. All crepe-like materials are used for the foundation, in the usual evening shades, with a decided preference for white, and the lining is as soft and thin as possible.

In striking contrast to the widely flaring skirts seen on the street, the sweeping lengths of all the newest evening gowns are what might be termed "clinky," they cling so closely to the figure. This effect is partly due to the weight of gold and silver embroideries on soft fabrics.

Large detailed flowers furnish the motifs for many of the loveliest ornamentations, and in every case the gown is designed separately; that is, it is cut and put together and then the embroidery arranged to suit its individual style. The best houses are getting away from paillette effects, and are substituting for them embroidery done in silver or gold ribbon worked over a soft padding.

Bodices usually are cut square, and the sleeves, if there are any, are mere bits of embroidered bands, fastening knots or fills of lace.

One whole year put in on the embroidery of a single gown seems a vast deal of time, yet it required that time to stitch in the silver threads on a lace gown that will be seen shortly at the opera. It is to be worn by Miss Giulia Morosini, who has had some unusually beautiful gowns designed for her this year.

Like all her dresses, this one is cut princess. The overdress is point d'Alencon lace heavily embroidered in silver bullion and dilligee work. This is laid over and under a slip of white tulle, and beneath this is another foundation of chiffon-covered liberty satin. The effect, with so many layers of filmy fabrics, is soft and delicate.

The embroidery design is Egyptian. Across the bust there is a large sunburst with silver-wrought wings outstretched, and from the tips of these there fall two long bands of silver embroidery, converging at the waist line and then spreading as they descend to the foot of the dress, so that they produce a panel effect. Two more narrow bands of the silver embroidery start at the wings of the sunburst and curve under the arms, then rise so as to cross in a point just below the shoulders.

The entire gown is covered with an Egyptian flower design, which is worked in small patterns on the corsage and then increases in size until at the bottom it expands into large wheels and huge petals. The wings of the large beetle form the edge of the front of the square décolletage, and across the shoulders run narrow straps of silver embroidery. From the armholes bits of the embroidery so arranged that they converge on the rounded part of the arm in something of a sunburst effect.

Another white gown in which Miss Morosini is dressed has been seen. It is of point d'Alencon, cream d'Alencon and real torchon laces. This latter is a variety seldom used on frocks, but its beauty and adaptability to certain styles make it a charming addition to the various kinds already in vogue.

About the bottom of this gown is a deep band of the heavy torchon lace in wheel patterns. Its hand-wrought meshes are fitted with heavy white silk embroidery, and appliques of white velvet grapes. In the front of the skirt, just below the knees, is worked a large bird of paradise, all in white.

This gown, too, is princess in style, and at the waist the fulcrum is daintily disposed in clusters of pin tucks, which curve in toward the center.

The top of the bodice is heavily incrustated with embroidered torchon, and the bottom effect is pretty carried out by a series of small tucks, which curve downward from the center of the back, and, passing under the arms, lose themselves beneath the jacket front of the bodice.

As unique as any gown yet seen is a peacock creation. Pale gray liberty crepe de chine forms the groundwork for the gown, which is all in one piece, and across the bust is embroidered a peacock with wings outspread and head up. In its eyes sparkle two large, genuine diamonds. The feet of this creature are confined at the waist line under an inch-wide strap of gray velvet ribbon, caught down at the ends with jeweled buttons.

The tail of this magnificent bird begins to spread at this point, and the beautifully wrought peacock feathers are worked in heavy gray silk and enhanced with tiny cut steel beads. The eye of each feather is wrought over gray tinted Italian net mesh and the crepe is then cut away. The effect of this magnificent plumage, all in pale gray and cut steel, which forms a panel in the front of the gown, is lovely beyond words.

About the sides and train of the gown there is an embroidered design of large flowers worked upon a mesh of tulle. The plain part of the soft crepe is closely draped with tiny-cut steel beads, fastened to the fabric in groups of three.

Pink crepe is the material from which another dainty frock is designed, and the wide band of real Irish crochet lace let in across the bottom is effectively treated with raised embroidery done in gold tissue. Both sides of the lace band are bordered with a curious icicle design of gold, and from these points run slender, waving stems topped by golden tulips. Tiny French knots in pink silk furnish a background for the stems, and at the same time serve to blend the gold work and the pure white tint of the lace.

The gold embroidery forms a curve across the bust, and this drapes at the sides to finish in a becoming postillon back. Mrs. George Gould, who wears gowns of rather plain lines, has had made a beautiful velvet, against which her gems sparkle with added brilliancy. The gown is elaborately trimmed with heavy hand-wrought lace in pure white. To go with this she has a coat to match of soft velvet in the same shade, solidly incrustated with a pattern of lace to match the gown. The sleeves are of the new half Oriental cut; that is, they are wide at the armholes, after the fashion of kimonoes or caftans, and then, instead of falling in straight, slender lines, they are held at the elbow under a wide band of lace, and from this point they slope gently into a deep cuff of velvet and lace. The coat itself is long and semi-loose, and the sleeves make it particularly agreeable for wear over crushable frocks.

Many garments of this kind are to be seen in the lobby of the opera house when the carriage rush is on, and it is a noticeable fact that white predominates.

Never in the history of opera going has there been such a fad for white, and invariably the material, whether it is cloth, velvet or soft silk, is lavishly ornamented with lace.

White fox is a desirable trimming where fur is linked, and this has a preference over either ermine or miniver. White chiffon-velvet coats are hung upon yoke-like cord-lugs and frequently there are collar, stole, cuffs and edgings of fluffy white fox.

Those who choose to alternate their jeweled crowns and tiaras with the wearing of simple head ornaments are showing a preference for elaborate wreaths and sprays of flowers. Some of them are made of gold or silver tissue, and the effect, especially if there is a delicate sprinkling of dew, in the form of rhinestones, very nearly rivals that of real gems. Pearls are having a wonderful vogue, though for the opera they usually are set with diamonds.

ROSE PINK SATIN EVENING DRESS.

A Lay Sermon On The Cost Of Mince Pies.

Has there ever been a mince pie built—composed—created—whatever may be the appropriate verb to denote the process by which a mince pie comes into being—has there ever been a mince pie worth $1? The assumption is that the article—the composition—the creation—was of the normal size and produced under the normal conditions governing the purchase of mince-meat, flour and brandy.

Of course, a mince pie, although of only normal dimensions, may be worth a dollar to the family physician; but that is an issue not to be considered in an economic discussion. Of course, too, a mince pie, though of only normal dimensions, might be worth a dollar in a remote mining camp on Thanksgiving Day, or Christmas Day, or any day which stirred the miners to thoughts of the old home and its pantry. But this is merely a sentimental valuation, and again has nothing to do with the economic question—was ever a mince pie worth a dollar?

Mince pies are sold for a dollar in New York. Therefore, it is evident that there are persons willing to pay a dollar for a mince pie. But what do they think they are paying for? Rich, brown, tender, flaky crust and a melting combination of flavors?

Those they might obtain for half the price from worthy bakers. What then? They are purchasing the pleased consciousness of "helping" that deserving creature, the reduced gentleman.

It is the reduced gentleman who charges a dollar for his pie. It is he who charges $15 apiece for life-size rug dolls. It is he whose crocheted slippers sell at a 25 per cent. advance over the crocheted slippers of commerce. It is he whose piecussions are imperishable to their buyers, whose laundry bills need a Standard Oil purse for their purchase, while only the Steel Trust can hope to own her sofa cushions.

But the reduced gentleman is not working primarily to soothe the shopper with a sense of having saved money by not buying the reduced gentleman's wares. And one wonders if she is not badly advised by the managers of her emporium when there is so wide a discrepancy between her prices and those current in the commercial world. Those who habitually buy the quickknicks of her manufacture and the pies of her baking must be comparatively few, and they must be actuated by charity rather than by the ordinary purposes of purchase. The reduced gentleman cannot flatter herself that it is the superiority of her work which keeps up its price. She must know that it is largely the patronizing kindness of her customers which causes her to pocket $1 for her mince pie, against the 50 cents of the excellent bakery on the corner.

Of course, she has to pay more for her raw material than the regular dealer, for she buys in small quantities. But the discrepancy between her prices and the normal ones is not explained by this. If she entered into competition with the regular trading places she would have to content herself with smaller profits on each article for awhile than she now makes, and smaller profits than the maker who buys raw material in bulk makes. But her custom would be enormously increased and in a short time some means might be devised by which she could obtain her materials more cheaply. If the organizations which now manage the exhibition and sale of the pretty trinkets of her making were to buy the raw materials for her work in bulk at manufacturing rates and were to sell it again to her at the same rate, no one would lose by the transaction. And with the influx of new custom which her lowered prices would give her would begin an era of prosperity for the reduced gentleman—a prosperity so great that she eventually might be able to pay a glass of her own jelly or wear an apron of her own making.

A Dainty Luncheon For Five Dollars

Entertaining to the young house-keeper of modest means is always something of a problem, and especially so when the vexed question of servants is to be considered. To the hospitably inclined newly married woman the return of civilities shown to her by her own and her husband's friends becomes a pressing obligation, and the first attempt at an entertainment in one's new home is apt to prove a rather trying ordeal. There is no need, however, for this to be so, and by the aid of a little care and trouble and the exercise of a little ingenuity on the part of the hostess a successful simple luncheon can be given without going to great expense. A luncheon being primarily an informal affair it is as well to begin by having one for a few of the women whom you feel under the obligation to, without attempting a dinner, with its more or less necessary accessories of wines and entrees. It has only the one maid to cook, and as many of our youngsters can live in apartments, it is not so difficult to try many courses.

The arrangement of the table is difficult. Your polished table, with its embroidered cloths to match the silver, and its

This is a matter of following your own ideas, only to make the table look overloaded. A luncheon of six the menu may be as follows:

Grape Fruit with Sherry.
Clam Bouillon, Celery and Olives.
Creamed Fish in Bakers.
Broiled Chicken. Salted Almonds.
Creamed Potatoes, Lima Beans.
Tomato Salad with Chopped Celery and Mayonnaise Dressing.
Toasted Crackers.
Dessert: Wine Jelly and Whipped Cream.
Fancy Cakes, Candies.
Coffee, Fruit.

The first course, grape fruit, with sherry, is easily obtained at this season, and should not cost over 10 or 12 cents at the outside. Three cut in half are all you need, and you can prepare them yourself. Cut the hard, pithy centers out and take out the seeds; then loosen the pulp a little from the rind at the sides, and in the middle put a teaspoonful of sherry and some sugar; then set them on the ice to cool and serve for the first course. If you wish to make the grape fruit still richer put a little of the Bar de Luc red currant preserve in the place of the sugar, but this will make it more expensive, of course. After the grape fruit, celery and olives should be handed, then the clam bouillon, served in cups, with spoons, dessert size.

The bouillon is made from a quart of clams, with a little milk, and whipped cream on top. Small dinner rolls should be served with it. After the bouillon some creamed fish in small bakers, for which dish you can use either fresh codfish or chicken halibut. Broiled chickens, the next course, with creamed potatoes, and the small lima beans which are now in season, should cost about 18 cents a pound, and a six-pound pair should be sufficient. The tomato salad should be carefully prepared. Select medium-size, firm tomatoes, skin them, remove the center and fill with chopped celery and tomatoes, cover with the mayonnaise dressing, made very smooth and creamy, and have them very cold to serve on crisp lettuce leaves in a pretty china or glass salad bowl. With this salad serve toasted cheese-crackers, tablet almonds or pecan nuts. You can prepare them yourself, and they are less expensive than if bought at a con-
